$3,500 SCHOLARSHIP

Daniel Jackson

Proctor R. Hug High

"Driven by my desire to help others navigate their mental health struggles, I plan to double-major in neuroscience and public health. Studying neuroscience will help me understand the root mechanisms behind cognition and mental health. I plan to use this knowledge to expand and deepen my understanding of mental health processes and how to help others, thereby enhancing my ability to support them. Ultimately, this scholarship will help me achieve my goal of building a future where conversations about mental health are not met with fear or judgment, but compassion, understanding, and action."
